Site Name Acenge Pre-1974 County Berkshire Site Type Doubtful Present County Formerly thought to be a lost Domesday place, perhaps associated with Oakhanger, Acenge Description has more recently been identified as the entry for East Ginge. [1, 2] See the entry on the website for East Ginge. Appears in the Gazetteer of Deserted Medieval Villages known in 1968. [1] Gelling, M. 1974. The Place-Names of Berkshire Part 2. Nottingham: English Place-Name References Society: 469. [2] Kemp, B. 1967-8. 'The Mother Church of Thatcham', Berkshire Archaeological Journal 63: 21. Domesday Reference BERK 65,10

Grid_reference

Domesday minimum

number of individuals

12

Acenge