Site Name Selavestune Pre-1974 County Dorset Site Type DMV Present County Dorset Selavestune is recorded at Domesday as a manor held by Aiulf the Chamberlain and has been Description identified as being in the Badbury Hundred but its location is not known. [1] There have been suggestions that it could have been in Wimborne Minster parish. [2] It does not appear in any later documentation. Appears in the Gazetteer of Deserted Medieval Villages known in 1968. [1] Thorn, C. and F. Thorn 1983. Domesday Book Dorset. Chichester: Phillimore. References [2] Mills, A.D. 1980. The Place-Names of Dorset Part 2. Nottingham: English Place-Name Society: 189. Domesday Reference DORT 49,4

Grid_reference

Domesday minimum

number of individuals

8

Selavestune